

FARMERS' STRIKE WENT INTO EFFECT THIS NOON

RECOGNITION OF SOVIET IS SEEN WITHIN A MONTH

Boom In Russo-American Trade Is Hope Of Administration

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—A speedy recognition of Soviet Russia, with a resultant boom in Russo-American trade, was forecast authoritatively today close upon the receipt of word that the Communist state intends literally to push its representative to the White House.

In an informed but unofficial quarter it was stated that Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, probably would sit down with President Roosevelt "in about two weeks."

The whirl of preparation set off by the President when he read to newsmen his letter to Mikhail, president of the Soviet Central Executive Committee, that the time had come to "end the present abnormal relations" between the two countries, today brought a generally favorable reaction within the Capital.

Some officials expressed the opinion privately that should the Roosevelt-Litvinoff conversations solve the difficulties in the path of recognition, a trade spurt passing beyond the $100,000,000 mark could be expected.

Expected In A Month

The Chief Executive himself warned that his letter to Kalinin did not in itself constitute recognition, but from within his administration came authoritative indication that this result could be expected in little more than a month if not sooner.

Talk progressed so far that there was speculation today that Henry Morgenthau, Jr., governor of the Farm Credit Administration, would be prominent among those considered as an Ambassador to the Soviet state, if and when problems between the two nations were solved.

Morgenthau was designated some time ago by the President to take a hand in all trade matters and inquiries concerning the Soviet, and close friends believe he would welcome such a post if offered.

Opposition Sure

It appeared certain today that some opposition to the President's move toward recognition would arise on Capitol Hill when Congress reconvenes. The American Federation of Labor and the American Legion already have expressed their opposition. There was little indication, however, that sufficient strength could be mustered in the Senate to defeat confirmation of an Ambassador should the President last occasion to name one.

Behind the private prediction of officials that exports of beyond $100,000,000 to Russia might be expected should recognition be granted, lay the sound foundation of negotiations already far advanced between the Amtorg, Russian Trading Company, and the Reconstruction Corporation for credits of more than $50,000,000.

Would Get Credits

The credits, which almost assuredly would be arranged in the event of recognition, would account for the purchase of 1,000,000 bales of cotton in addition to sizeable purchases of heavy machinery of various sorts.

Officials have seen in Russia a ready market for rail equipment as well as mill machinery. Farm Administration experts are known to believe that Russia would take 2,000,000 bales of cotton annually if conditions were propitious.

Roosevelt's warning that his invitation did not automatically signify recognition, and the prediction of some State Department officials that results could hardly be expected within a month, were based upon the complexity of the questions to be discussed between the Chief Executive and Litvinoff.

Big Loans Impaid

Among the obligations charged against Russia by this country are a $187,000,000 war time loan to the Kerensky government, which was overthrown by the forces which formed the present Soviet state, and $86,000,000 in private flotations to the Czarist regime.

In addition the forces overthrown in Kerensky confiscated property estimated roughly at $300,000,000 in principle. Although the exact amount would be difficult to estimate, among the properties confiscated were those of the National City Bank in Petrograd, since renamed Leningrad.

Against these figures officials here believe Litvinoff will recall the Russian claim of several hundred million dollars against the United States for alleged destruction of property during the Arch-Angel and Siberian expeditions after the close of the World War. These claims, however, have never been given status by this government.

In addition to these considerations and trade relations, another point which undoubtedly will be insisted upon by the President will center upon a Communist anti-propaganda guarantee.

SOVIET ENTHUSED

Moscow, Oct. 21 (AP)—Enthusiastic comment on the possibility of American recognition of the Soviet Union poured from the press of the nation today.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

SINGER RITES TODAY

The funeral of Willis Singer was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Staples chapel, Rev. J. Frank Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. Interment was in Oakwood.

INFANT SON DEAD

Loren Lee, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Woodruff of 1211 Fargo ave., passed away at an early hour this morning, death being caused by pneumonia. The body will be taken to Zenia, Clay county, Ill. tomorrow for burial.

LICENSED TO WED

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: Glenn R. Wiggin and Miss Martha Hoffman, both of Walnut; Jesse L. Quacco of Woodstock and Miss Mary Ellen Needham of Dixon; William A. Skeffington and Miss Elizabeth A. Wolf, both of Dixon.

FREED UNDER BOND

E. F. Shippert of this city was taken before Judge Leech in the county court yesterday afternoon on an information charging him with having made checks to defraud. Bond in the sum of $1,000 was furnished and the hearing was continued until the December term of the county court.

GIRL PAINFULLY HURT

Mary Jane Boynton, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Boynton, of Route 1, suffered the amputation of the first two fingers on her right hand yesterday at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital. Mary Jane had her hand caught in a corn slicer. She returned to her home last evening.

INDOOR RING SHOW

The first of a series of indoor boxing programs, sponsored by the Dixon Athletic Club at their Ottawa avenue arena, will be held Thursday evening of next week. Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion is sponsoring the first of the winter shows and Matchmaker Ed Hooker is completing negotiations for the appearance of several fast amateurs on that occasion.

ON FEDERAL JURY

Fred Eicholz of this city and Chris Seebach of Franklin Grove are the only two selections from Lee county to serve on the federal grand jury at Freeport at the term of court which is to open Monday Nov. 6. On the petit jury list the following names of Lee county residents have been drawn: L. M. Corwin, Compton, George Webber, Scarborough, A. C. Morris, Franklin Grove and Frank Hewitt Steward.

Beer Drinkers Aid Treasury By 150 Millions A Year

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Beer drinkers are helping support the government at a $150,000,000-a-year rate.

That's what Treasury figures indicate on the basis of six months of the legal 3.2 beverage. Exactly $74,944.93 was collected in beer taxes, $6,164,967 more in special levies on brewers and distributors and $105,121 on 3.2 wine.

In making public the half-year beer returns officials withheld any forecast of what effect repeal, if realized, may have on strictly beer revenue.

The Treasury figures put internal revenue collections for the first quarter of the 1934 fiscal year (July 1 to Sept. 30) at $613,256,977, a $255,150,912 increase over this quarter a year ago.

No Decision Made On Ill. Sales Tax

Springfield, Oct. 21 (AP) The Illinois Supreme Court today ended its October term by handing down opinions in early 80 cases. The constitutionality of the state tax is still under advisement, with no decision expected before the December or February terms.

Another case not decided involved the habeas corpus release from Joliet penitentiary of "Fur" Sammons, Chicago gangster.

Some 57.6 per cent of the 65,000,000 men mobilized during the World War were either killed, wounded, taken prisoner, or died from disease or other natural causes.

Catholic University Burning In New Brunswick; 300 Students In School Lose All Their Clothing

St. Joseph, N. B., Oct. 21 (AP)—Fire still gripped the new wing of St. Joseph's University today after destroying all other parts of the university except a gymnasium and rink.

The 300 students at the institution, operated by the Holy Cross order, and 15 brothers and 15 priests were in the new chapel when the flames of undetermined origin, broke out last night. Pan-

WHEAT CONTROL ASSN. FOR LEE COUNTY FORMED

Officers Are Chosen And Budget For Year Is Fixed At Amboy

The chairman from the five districts into which Lee county is divided for the purpose of filing applications for wheat allotment contracts met in the Farm Bureau office at Amboy Wednesday, and organized the Wheat Production Control Association of Lee County. All farmers signing wheat allotment contracts are members of this organization.

The following officers were elected for the crop year, 1934: J. Edwin Mau, Harmon, President.

Edward J. Mannion, Harmon, Vice President. Clinton C. Buckaloo, Dixon, Secretary.

Peter S. Hoyle, Dixon, treasurer. The President, Secretary and Treasurer are to serve as the County Allotment Committee and will set on all matters pertaining to the assignment of allotments to wheat growers in Lee County.

Budget Fixed

The matter of a budget was thoroughly discussed and the budget for the crop year of 1933 was prepared, amounting to $1,051.50, which is approximately two cents per bushel of each wheat grower's allotment. This budget is as low as any budget covering the amount of allotment bushels as low as Lee County.

The greater number of bushels of wheat the lower the administration cost. The members of the different community committees felt that they could keep the administration cost down lower by forming an association of their own within Lee County instead of joining the counties either to the north or the south of Lee. Every effort is being made to keep the cost of administration down, to enable the greatest amount possible being returned to the wheat growers of this county.

It is estimated that approximately $1,508.40 will be returned to the wheat growers in Lee county by some time in December and $3,452.50 some time in the spring. Approximately $2,000,000 will be returned to wheat growers in the state of Illinois during December.

Seventy per cent of the wheat growers in the United States have signed applications which it is estimated will result in a ten per cent wheat acreage reduction throughout the nation.

These wheat growers through their cooperative spirit have shown that they are willing to help themselves if given the opportunity.

Cook Co. Tax Cut Order Is Expunged

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21 (AP)—The Cook County Board of Appeals today was ordered by the Illinois Supreme Court to expunge its order for a fifteen per cent reduction of 1931 tax assessments on small homes.

The Supreme Court previously has upheld the order for reduced assessments on the dwellings, which was limited to improvements and excluded the land.

The reversal came on a 5 to 2 decision, with Justices Stone and De Young dissenting.

County officials had opposed the original order, contending that it would reduce the amount of revenue at a time of tax delinquencies and empty treasuries. The State Tax Commission had upheld the Board of Appeals.

Minimum Mark-up Guarantee "Out"

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Proposals for government sanction of a minimum price for retail stores face almost certain rejection by the administration.

Authoritative officials say President Roosevelt definitely has shelved the plan to prohibit, in a master code, retail sales at prices below invoice cost plus 10 per cent. To what extent the NRA may go in banning slashes as unfair competition is up to Roosevelt.

The price mark-up issue provided one of the few open differences between the Farm and NRA administrations. Secretary Wallace assailed this recommendation of the retail industry and his views are said to have prevailed.

MINERS DEPART FROM CAPITAL: CITY NOW QUIET

Progressives Listen To Advice Of Conservative Chief

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21 (AP)—The conservative element in the Progressive Miners Union still held the upper hand today and no attempt was made to picket mines by the steadily dwindling number of invading coal diggers in Springfield.

A dynamite bomb exploded this morning in the alley behind the home of Tony Fontana, a United Mine Worker employed at the Peerless mine. Nobody No. 59. The explosion tore out six feet of fence, but did not injure Fontana or his wife and child. The bomber escaped.

Otherwise there was no violence and guard officials reported that most of the Progressives were following the advice of their president, Claude Percy, to return to their home without causing trouble.

Major Omer Davenport, National Guard commander in the Springfield area, estimated that a few hundred miners were still milling about town.

Further evidence that the protest holiday had ended was the re-opening of the seven local mines operated with Progressive labor. Two Peabody mines again worked on normal schedule.

Differences of opinion were expressed by Progressive speakers when a general strike and intent on sive picketing were debated at a mass meeting yesterday afternoon.

Alfred E. Smith Day At Big Fair Postponed—Rain

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—This was to have been Al Smith's own day at the World's Fair. Brown derbies were to serve as passes at the gates.

But it was decidedly dismal when the former Governor of New York hoisted the curtains of his sleeping car and looked out.

The sidewalks of Chicago were all wet, a drizzling rain shrouded the flaming colors of the Exposition buildings and the brown derbies that got you in for nothing on Al Smith Day were dripping and shiny when they reached the gates of the lakeside fair.

So at 10 A. M. the powers decreed that this was not Al Smith Day after all, and that the program would be deferred until Monday. On that afternoon Al Smith of New York will make his speech to the crowd in the court of the Hall of Science.

Burglars Looted Stocks In Two Dixon Stores and Took Goods Worth $1,500

Isadore Eichler's And Rickard & Son's Stores Robbed

Two places of business in the down town district, the Isadore Eichler and E. H. Rickard & Son's clothing stores, were entered, presumably at an early hour this morning, and merchandise valued at about $1,500 was carried away. At the Eichler store on First street, where the loss was the heaviest, the lock was pried off the front door and many suits and overcoats carried out from the stock.

Night Merchant Police Peter Kelly discovered the front door of the clothing store standing wide open at about 4:45 o'clock and immediately informed the proprietor. The door had been propped open to afford easy access to the street in carrying out the plunder. The remainder of the stock was not bothered and it was apparent the early morning visitors selected only the finest suits and overcoats which they hurriedly removed from the display cases and undoubtedly loaded into an automobile in front of the store. It was estimated that the loss at the Eichler store would amount to about $1,000, not insured. The proprietor, however, would not give an estimate of his loss.

Took Costly Goods

The E. H. Rickard & Son store on Galena avenue was the scene of a second robbery where it was estimated that the loss would be between $300 and $500. The intruders smashed a heavy plate glass window in the rear of the store, then raised the sash. They apparently were deliberate in their movements, carefully selecting such articles from the stock as suited their fancy. They tried on hats, which they picked from the display cases, selecting size and style.

The entire stock was ransacked thoroughly, expensive leather brief cases, duffle bags, shirts, belts, clothes, pajamas, gloves, pen knives, pipes and holiday goods being carried out of the rear window in a waiting automobile, which is believed to have been parked in the rear of the Dixon theater. Clark Rickard discovered the robbery when he opened the store this morning about 7:30 and immediately notified the police.

The Banta ice cream factory one-half block west of the police station was entered some time Thursday night and about 12 quarts of ice cream removed, according to a report filed at the station.

Witnessed By Boy

Walter Lengel told Chief of Police Van Bibber today that he saw two men engaged in carrying the articles of clothing from the Eichler store this morning between 4:15 and 4:30. Walter carries morning papers and saw the car parked in front of the store, one man sitting in the machine, another standing on the walk and a third carrying a bundle. He did not suspect a robbery and continued on his way south on Hennepin avenue. The car left the curb, drove north on Hennepin avenue and turned east on River street, he stated.

Robert Hargrave, Illinois Northern Utilities Company employe, also reported to Chief Van Bibber having seen the car in front of the clothing store at that hour, but did not suspect a robbery. Another report to the police was that the car left the scene of the robbery and turned south on Hennepin avenue, continuing on Hennepin street, where it was seen to stop in front of the Slothower hardware store for a short time.

Late this afternoon the police had no trace of the movement of a car which hauled the loot away from the Rickard store. Footprints in the mud in the rear of the building indicated that the articles taken were passed out of a window and then thrown over a woven wire fence. Chief Van Bibber doubled that the same gang of thieves operated in both stores.

Plea Of Teacher-Uxoricide Refused

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21 (AP)—The Illinois Supreme Court today refused to grant a new trial to Hubert C. Moor, Robinson high school teacher under death sentence for murdering his wife because she was a poor housekeeper, December 22 was set as the date for his electrocution.

Moor pleaded insanity and confessed that he killed his wife, Marjorie, because her sink was always full of dirty dishes and he was ashamed to entertain friends.

Mrs. Moor, a substitute teacher, was slain August 15, 1932, while they were returning from Indianapolis. Moor first blamed highway robbers. The trial was held at Marshall.

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Public Works Administration today allotted $25,000,000 to the Army and Navy for national defense.

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—One of a party of six young persons was killed and another was wounded by shots fired by a police man when he said their automobile failed to halt for a red traffic signal.

The victims were: Harry Neilson, 26, who slumped in his seat dead when struck in the head by a bullet, and Larkin Gervais, 23, wounded in the left ear.

Later, Policeman Harry Vehlou said he fired into the pavement and that one of the bullets apparently ricocheted into the rear of the disappearing car, struck

INSULL IS NOT EXTRADITABLE, LAWYER CLAIMS

Hearing On Plea Of U. S. For Samuel Insull Begins

Athens, Oct. 21 (AP)—The declaration that the accusation against Samuel Insull could be an extraditable one only when punishable locally was made today by Insull's attorney during a hearing in which the United States government seeks the former Chicagoan's extradition in connection with the collapse of his utilities interests.

The attorney, Denis Lazarimos, praised a previous verdict in the case as typical of Greek justice and hospitality.

In a sharp voice the Public Prosecutor restated the accusation against Insull, fraudulent bankruptcy and transfer of property in anticipation of bankruptcy.

He pointed out that certain offenses punishable in other countries were not so considered in Greece.

It was stated that Insull's Chicago lawyers this afternoon would release to the press an important document after first submitting it to the court.

Denis Lazarimos, attorney for Insull, spoke for the defense, referring to the first verdict in the case and praising the Greek sense of justice in dealing with this which he said equalled Greek hospitality.

PRESIDENT IS GIVEN DEGREE BY WASHINGTON

Disdains "Programs" Given A Definite Term Of Years

Chestertown, Md., Oct. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt called the nation to the "spirit of cooperation" of the colonial days as he accepted here today an honorary degree from Washington College.

Dismissing the "five year and ten year programs of some countries which have a Dictator," the President declared amid applause:

"In this country, which has no dictator, we can, I think, move further toward our goal without giving it a definite term of years."

But he emphasized that the spirit of cooperation was the vital element for recovery and harked back to George Washington, a founder of this institution, as a leader against class distinction and the pioneer of cooperation.

"We have accomplished much in the last few months," said the President in his collegiate cap and gown, "but we can't reach the goal in a couple of months."

"Some countries where there are dictators have laid down what is called a five year program or a ten year program. In this country which has not got a dictator I think we can move further toward our goal without giving it a definite term of years."

Chicago Policeman Shoots At Auto Which Ran Red Light; One Of Occupants Dead, Other Hurt

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—One of a party of six young persons was killed and another was wounded by shots fired by a police man when he said their automobile failed to halt for a red traffic signal.

The victims were: Harry Neilson, 26, who slumped in his seat dead when struck in the head by a bullet, and Larkin Gervais, 23, wounded in the left ear.

Later, Policeman Harry Vehlou said he fired into the pavement and that one of the bullets apparently ricocheted into the rear of the disappearing car, struck

Gervais sitting in the back seat, and continued on and hit Neilson, seated in front, in the head.

The shooting occurred at Belmont and North Western Avenues, after Policeman Vehlou said Roy Chapman, 26, driver of the car had failed to heed two blasts of his whistle to stop, and had continued on.

The others, including two young women, were taken to a police station where officers said Chapman admitted that he had driven through the red light, but claimed not to have seen the policeman.

NO REPORTS AS TO ITS EXTENT RECEIVED TODAY

"New Deal" Is "Same Old Stacked Deck" Leader Claims

Farm Rebellion Facts At A Glance—

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Farm strike leaders worked at top speed today to line up their forces for the opening of their anti-selling campaign, designed to raise agricultural prices and compel the government to supply an NRA for the farmers.

Milo Reno, the "General" behind the movement, gave out last minute orders to his farm lieutenants from his headquarters in Des Moines, and predicted a "long drawn out battle" by the Farmers National Holiday Association, of which he is president.

Other developments during the past twenty-four hours in the "farm war" were:

The White House at Washington took cognizance of the situation, and the Farm Administration hurried plans that may embrace wheat and corn loans.

H. C. Parmenter, Nebraska Farm Holiday president, appealed to Washington for an embargo on importations of all farm and manufactured food products.

Opposition continued in some quarters to the "strike." Governor Tom Berry of South Dakota said "we should follow the leader" and urged support of President Roosevelt.

In North Dakota Governor William Langer ordered Sheriffs to enforce the embargo he recently declared on shipments of wheat out of the state. Despite this, the grain continued to move.

Keith Neville, former Governor of Nebraska, declined to rescind his resignation as chairman of the State NRA Board, despite a request by General Hugh Johnson, National Administrator, for him to reconsider.

Illinois farmers sympathized with the proposed strikers but had taken no steps to join the movement.

Des Moines, Oct. 21 (AP)—The "new deal" for agriculture is "the same old stacked deck, and so far as administering the agricultural act is concerned," with "the same old dealers," Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday Association, asserted as he officially proclaimed opening of a national farm strike at noon today.

It was chiefly a waiting game at national headquarters here as the strike went into effect. No reports were yet available as to the degree of cooperation forthcoming from farmers.

Holiday leaders emphasized that all farmers were expected to cooperate, although they might not be members of the association. Picketing officially was frowned upon, but some members of the national office here asserted it might be expected as a last resort.

Non-Buying, Non-Paying

"We have reached the point where statements and promises are mere gestures, to lull the farmer to sleep that his complete enslavement may be completed," Reno said in a statement-letter sent the 23 state presidents of Holiday Associations.

"I fully realize the seriousness of a strike movement at this time, but the situation fully justifies our action," he continued.

He termed the strike a "non-buying, non-paying program." "We have been patient and long suffering," Reno said. "Our demands, petitions, and prayers have been ignored by every administration for 13 years. We have been made a political football for jingo politicians, who are controlled by the money lords of Wall Street."

May Run Into Snag

The strike may run into a snag, Reno said.

"Some of the boys," he said, "are rocking the boat. I have received some widely divergent opinions from persons who say they are holiday members. I don't believe some of them are. The Holiday Association is behind the national strike wholeheartedly."

He declined to name the states or persons to whom he referred except to say that he didn't believe "all those statements which he read in news dispatches about the state groups not coming in." He did say, however, that there appeared to be dissension in some of the state organizations which has resulted in controversial statements and a divergence of opinions over the practicality of the national holiday.

Cabinet Will Meet

Members of the national cabinet at Washington discussed crop loans for farmers and speeding up of mortgage refinancing. A meeting to which farm representatives are invited was set for Tuesday.

Farm Bureau officials pleaded for further consideration of the administration plan for relief through crop control. Milk producers in Wisconsin indicated their intention of joining in the holiday movement

Aesop, Author of Fables, Was Born About 619 B. C.

Aesop, the reputed author of the collection of fables, is said to have been born about 619 B. C., and the Greek island of Samos is the place most commonly given as that of his birth, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He was a slave and is supposed to have been given his freedom because of his unusual talents. On gaining his freedom he visited Greece and Lydia. At the Court of Croesus, King of Lydia, he won great favor and was employed on several missions of importance. On one of these at Delphi he was thrown over a precipice by the priests, who became enraged at his witticisms.

Such is the story of Aesop. There is no record as to when and under what circumstances he composed the fables. Some authorities hold that he was not a historical personage at all—no more than a name that somehow attached itself to an ancient collection of tales. Greek art nevertheless had a definite idea of him, representing him as a dwarf. At least one statue survives.

It is certain that some of the fables are much older than the period in which Aesop lived; but that may mean only that he was a plagiarist. The fable of the Lion and the Mouse, and the Dispute of the Stomach and the Members are two stories which have been found in Egypt, dating hundreds of years before 619 B. C. Others have been traced to Chinese and Indian sources.

Traveling Around America

THE Easter Bunny has nothing on the Central American turtle when it comes to taking nests. This pile of turtle eggs taken from one nest in the sand totals one hundred fifty, no less! From the lagoons in Central America hundreds of turtles waddle along the shore in their nightly promenade.

Once a week at night they lay eggs in holes in the sand, covering them over carefully before they return to their watery homes. The eggs are soft and round, resembling in size and color the eggs of chickens. Shells are soft, and yield to the slightest pressure. Natives consider the eggs quite a delicacy, but foreigners seem able to withstand their appeal.

Since turtles visit on shore only at night they present a difficult problem to the photograph fans. A passenger, on one of the ships which visits the Central American on weekly cruises between our eastern and western coasts, hit upon what he thought was a feasible idea. One night he caught a handsome loggerhead turtle of some three hundred pounds weight and with the help of a native turned it on its back—thinking it would be unable to right itself and run away—and left it flapping its flippers in high rage. Next morning the traveler armed with his camera sought the place where he had packed his prize and found only an angry-looking swirl of sand and a brace of parallel tracks about sixteen inches apart leading to the lagoon. A big-hearted native had courteously helped the turtle on its feet and the latter had headed for home.

Novel Use of Fur Gives Character to Velvet Afternoon Coats

Paris Winter Creations Hug Figure and Pinch in Waist Slightly; Shoulders Worn Wide, Skirt Has Almost Straight Line at Hem

A black velvet afternoon coat (left) by Lucile Paray has wide bands of silver black fox trimming, which are detachable. The coat fastens all the way across in front and ties with a sash of self material. The sleeves are long enough to allow them to wrinkle fashionably at the wrist. When you want to wear a coat without fur, simply unsnap the band across the front and remove the capelet. Another afternoon coat (right) of gray velvet is an unusual model created by Worth. The large bow and the sleeves are of black seal.

PARIS—It is almost impossible to contemplate the winter season without a warm and comfortable coat. However charming and youthful a fall suit may be, it can never assume the responsibilities of a winter coat. Anyway, every woman includes some kind of a coat in her autumnal scheme of things, and it is almost just as much of a tradition as wood fires, falling leaves and other signs of the season.

The winter coat nearly always has to be semi-formal, being often-times called upon to do duty as an all-day affair, so it usually boasts of some subtle cut and trimming feature which puts it in a category all by itself.

This year there is no one type of long coat. Every couturier has evolved his own particular ideas on it in his own manner. The result is inclined to be a little disconcerting, but there are nevertheless some features which recur with sufficient regularity throughout, the numerous collections which may be taken as a general guide.

The princess line is most favored. The new models hug the figure and the waist is pinched in, but not too ostentatiously. Shoulders are still worn wide, but the width has dropped below instead of being heaped above as before, and the skirt is so slightly biased as to have an all-

STATESMEN TAKE VARYING VIEWS OF RECOGNITION

Comment Of Nations And Men Compiled By AP Correspondents

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Men and nations took a varying view today of developments forecasting American recognition of Russia.

Comment flashed swiftly from the Capitals of the world—and from remote corners as well—as the word went out that President Mikhail Kalinin had accepted President Roosevelt's invitation to enter into negotiations looking to possible recognition.

In brief, the reaction was: Senator Borah of Idaho, former chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee—Praised President Roosevelt's move toward recognition. Termed it of supreme moment in the cause of peace.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor—Said before recognizing Russia, United States should insist that U. S. S. R. cease attempts to bring "world revolution through force."

"Utterly foolhardy!"

Senator Arthur Robinson, Indiana Republican—Asserted recognition would be "utterly foolhardy."

Geneva—International circles saw U. S. move as step toward bringing Russia out of isolation. League members thought if Russia should join the loss of Japan and Germany would be powerfully offset.

London—Political quarters felt American move finally ends Russia's "political outlawry." British business foresaw the rise of a new and potent competitor for Soviet trade. Government officials said they weren't surprised.

Paris—Government circles regarded the exchange of messages as solidifying international relations and opening broader trade possibilities for the United States.

Tokyo—Newspapers pointed out that President Roosevelt's note was dated October 10—when Russo-Japanese tension was high—but officials professed doubt there was any connection. A spokesman declared reports that Japan disliked the prospect of American recognition of Russia.

Rome—Official quarters withheld comment, but newspapers asserted move corresponds with Mussolini's policy to accord Russia "realistic dues as a great European nation."

Shanghai—Literature public hailed prospect of recognition as promising to result in tempering of Japan's strong policy toward China.

If by chance a belt does figure on a model, it does so in a very ingenious manner and almost never completely round the waist. It comes in front or at the back, or else starts in the middle of the front to end in the middle of the back.

Of course, much of the character of the new coats is in the fur trimming, not only in the fur itself, but the way it is treated. You do not need gobs of fur to be chic, but even the tiniest strip has to be in the right place to achieve smartness. Again, certain furs "go" with certain fabrics, so that the question of the winter coat is a matter for serious study.

America toward the U. S. S. R., said the newspaper Izvestia editorially, "reflects an ever growing conviction that exceptionally favorable conditions exist for the widest cooperation between the two countries in the most varied fields."

"The exchange of messages between President Roosevelt and President Mikhail Kalinin will produce great satisfaction, not only in the public opinion of both countries, but among all sincerely interested in the maintenance and consolidation of international peace."

"In the course of sixteen years the U. S. S. R. has established stable and normal relations with its neighbors and the most important countries of the world and invariably has strictly maintained the principles of non-interference with economic cooperation."

"We wish to believe that the establishment of official contact will prove only the first step toward a rapprochement of two great countries which certainly will be welcomed by all sincere friends of peace," Izvestia concluded.

To the Pravda, President Roosevelt's message inviting a Russian representative to discuss relations between the two countries signified the departure from America's "former policy towards the greatest country of Europe and Asia."

It testified, the newspaper added, to the fact that "leading circles of the American bourgeoisie finally have become convinced of the necessity of changing that line of conduct."

Right Garment Will Aid Figure

The perfect feminine figure today is the one which shows smooth,
well rounded curves with no prominent 'bumps' and no hollows.

Your posture, of course, has a great deal to do with your figure.
Stand correctly and you'll have no
hollow in your back and your hips
and stomach won't protrude.

But let us assume that after mastering the almost forgotten art
of standing and sitting gracefully
you still have a few curves which show up too much. What is the next step toward a beautiful figure?

A proper foundation garment
is your answer.

There is a great deal of controversy as to whether or not women should wear corsets and girdles.
Your decision must depend on your own figure.

A girl who is very athletic or
one who devotes some time each day to vigorous exercise probably can get along without a foundation
garment. Her skill will be firm enough to hold the curves in place.

But if you get very little exercise
and it is evident to you that your skin is too soft and pliable to act
as a natural foundation, by all means shop around for a girdle or corset.

Put yourself in the hands of an expert on the subject and get only the best. Buying a foundation garment is one time when you shouldn't look for a bargain.

MISS WHITE GUEST

Miss Ruth White of Longmont,

The Pup And The 'Fraidy-Cat

When first the kitten spied the dog
She caught her furry breath;
She couldn't run, she couldn't move,
Oh, she was scared to death!
All she could do was stare at him
And shake and wonder why
He didn't make a pass at her . . .
He didn't even try!

If she had been a braver cat
Who stirred and moved around,
She might have crept upon the dog
And then she would have found
That all the trembling fears she knew
Were so much tommyrot,
The dog, you see is nothing but A china flower pot!

asked to engage in silent prayer.
The hymn, "Fight the Good Fight
With All Thy Might" was sung,
followed by devotions led by Mrs.
W. A. Frey, ending with the repeating of the "Lord's Prayer."

The report of the secretary and the treasurer were read, followed by reports from the department secretaries.

The annual "Thank Offering"
service will be held Sunday morning, Dec. 10, with Mrs. H. R.
Clarke of LaGrange, Ill., giving the address.

The president announced that the Fall Rally of the Rock River Valley Zone will be held at Morrison Ill., Friday, Nov. 3, beginning with registration at 9:30 A. M.
The President urged all officers
to attend and as many of the members as possible. The transportation committee appointed are:
Mrs. W. J. Hintz, Mrs. T. W. Clav-
in, Mrs. J. C. Groff and Mrs. L.
B. Clingan. Those who can furnish a car and those desiring transportation will please call not later than Monday, Oct. 30.

A demonstration on Christian Citizenship by Ada Townsend was given. Miss Estella Anderson, representing Mrs. W. H. C. Goode,
National President of the W. H.
M. S. visited the auxiliary and gave extracts of Mrs. Goode's address at the recent National meeting. Mrs. Goode could stay but a very short time and was taken to the train by Mrs. Merry (Mrs. W.
H. Ware), Miss Hope Young (Mrs.
Coxhead), Mrs. Christopher (Mrs.
Fred Hobbs) and Mrs. King (Mrs.
E. J. Randall). On their way to good station various subjects were discussed such as child labor,
sweat shops, wages of women, war,
world court, League of Nations, the Paris Pact, international law and prohibition. The discussion ended with Mrs. Goode saying, "I agree with you thoroughly, and I have faith to believe that no question is settled finally until it is settled right. As it was with slavery, so it will be in the end with war and
with alcohol, and with industrial righteousness and social justice.
We must keep on with a five-year
plan or a twenty-five year plan,
educating, educating, educating ourselves, our children, and the stranger within our gates until like Paracelsus, in some time, in God's good time, we shall arrive. You who are promoting the program of Christian Citizenship are really
road-menders, placing safety signs along our national highways, to make the road safer for the future."

Mrs. Hobbs then read, "Motion Pictures, A Social Force," by Mrs.
Catherine Cooke Gilman, President of the Federal Motion Picture Council of America, a message pointing out some of the repairs needed on the "movie road."

Mrs. Gilbert Stansell in her pleasing manner sang the Negro spiritual "I Wanna Be A Christian In My Heart."

Mrs. H. D. Bills spoke briefly of the annual national meeting of the W. H. M. S. held at Danville,
Oct. 11-16, which she, with Miss Flora Seals and Miss Estella Anderson attended.

The meeting closed with singing the closing song of the W. H.
M. S. and prayer by Mrs. Gilbert
Stansell.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 16 at 2:30 P. M.
Place of meeting to be announced
later.

Skeffington-Wolf Marriage Today

This morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Anne's Catholic church, Rev.
Father J. T. Smith performed the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Elizabeth Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf and William Skeffington.

The church was well filled with relatives and friends. There were decorations of bronze and white chrysanthemums. The bride was gowned in a beautiful frock of brown triple sheer with trimmings of dark brown velvet. She wore a modish brown hat. Her corsage was composed of Talsman roses.
She was attended by her sister,
Miss Helen Wolf as maid of honor
wearing rust colored silk crepe with black accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses. Bud Springer was best man. After the ceremony and congratulations a three course wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. The table decorations were in yellow and white, the bride's colors. Both Mr. and Mrs.
Skeffington have many friends
who wish them much happiness.

Brownie Packs Con- tinue to Grow

The north side Brownie Pack
now has over fifty girls on its list.
The Brownie room was nearly overflowing. This, however, did not prevent them from having a real and exciting meeting. Stories, and songs helped the new girls feel at home. As October is Health and Nature month, combined, there was a few minutes given to each. The Brownies talked about cleaning
their teeth and working their hands. Then came inspection for all untidy belts, shoe strings, and bows, dirty nails, bitten nails, dirty hands, and uncombed hair. Nearly every Brownie passed inspection.

every little girl from 7 to 10 years of age. Of every child in Dixon can be reached, the community committee is in a position to train new leaders and to establish as many packs as necessary. Within the next two weeks a new pack will begin on the south west side. These things are possible because the Dixon citizens have so kindly and liberally provided for Dixon children.

Meeting Missionary Society Bethel Ch.

The October meeting of the Missionary Society of Bethel U. E.
church was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C.
Jeanguenat on Jefferson avenue,
with a large attendance of members and friends. Mrs. Leroy Gaul and Mrs. Everett Donoho assisted in preparing the program and entertaining the society.

The Scripture lesson was given by Mrs. E. Donoho, reading Matt.
7:26-35, explaining this portion with helpful comments, after which several members led in special prayer in behalf of missionary work
and also for the special meetings
now being held each night at the church.

Mrs. Bessie Weyant and Mrs.
Forster then sang a beautiful duet,
"The Precious Name of Jesus," accompanied at the piano by Mrs.
Jessie Gaul.

Miss Carrie Swarts read an interesting leaflet, entitled "Little Ann of Lost Gap."

Mrs. H. W. Lambert developed the topic on the work in Kentucky
and illustrated her talk with many kodak pictures taken by Rev. and Mrs. Lambert when they were in Kentucky the past summer.

The missionary work is badly needed down there and God has worked in a very marked way
through the missionaries in opening the hearts of these people to the truth of the Gospel.

Some of the young boys are artistic bird house builders and many of the young folks are reading and memorizing scripture verses in their schools in sections, but much more needs to be done. The school work is also spoked of the modes of travel
in getting through the country
down there which was amusing
owing to the primitive state and unadvanced conditions.

A number of songs were sung by all during the program. The president conducted a lively business
session. Rev. Lambert and Rev.
Brandellner, who were guests,
gave some helpful remarks on the Kentucky work.

The president closed the meeting with prayer after which a social period and serving of dainty refreshments by the hostesses
closed a pleasant afternoon.

Capes Return To Favor Again

By Adelaide Kerr
Paris (AP)—Capes are back
again.

Little waist-length capes appear
with daytime and dinner gowns.
Hip-length capes of fur or wool
are worn with street costumes.
Long cloaks are sported about the most regal evening gowns.

Hip-length capes for both daytime and evening wear are the newest fashion note. They appear in fur, wool and silk treated to new tricks.

Bronze Seal and Galvak
Helm uses rich bronze seal and galvak tinted a new gold beige
called "chrome" to make striking
hip-length capes for daytime use.
Sometimes they are worn with a muff and toque to match, again
they appear with wool accessories
matching the frock.

Chanel designs hip and three-quarter length wool capes for sport
and travel wear. Deep green-ribbed wool frocks and suits appear
with loose capes of the same fabric, swinging from the shoulders.

Schiaparelli adds the hip-length
cape to the evening style picture,
with a striking model of bright Peppering red taffeta having a quilted effect, worn with a slender

gown of silver gray satin.

Some of Ostrich
Short capes of fluttering ostrich,
shimmering velvet of soft coque
feathers are a favorite accessory
for winter evening frocks, and luxurious waist-length capes made of silver or grey foxes are among the richest evening wraps.

The long cloak, a favorite of the tall chic woman, is shown by several of the leading designers. It is generally made of velvet in such rich tones as midnight blue, navy
blue or dark green.

Entertained for Miss Shelhamer

Section No. 1 of the M. E. Aid Society of the Methodist church
held a picnic luncheon at the home of Mrs. Frank Forman in honor of Miss Ino Shelhamer as she is leaving next week to resume her residence with her cousin in Dover, O.
There were twenty-five in attendance at the luncheon and afterward an enjoyable program was given, everyone having a delightful time. Miss Shelhamer has always been active in various departments of the Methodist church work and
she will be greatly missed by her friends.

Palmyra Mutual Aid Soc. Meeting

The Palmyra Mutual Aid Society
held an all day meeting Oct. 18th
at the Sugar Grove church. A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon.
Thirteen members were present at Roll Call. The business meeting was conducted by the president. A new project to help the treasury
has been instigated which will be of interest to all members. The next meeting will be Nov. 3 with the invitation to meet at the home of Mrs. Lucy Herbst. At this time members are reminded to bring materials to make articles for the Tennessee box.

LEAVE ON VACATION TRIP THIS EVENING

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sipe are leaving this evening on a motor trip to Lexington, Ind., where they will spend a vacation of a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Perkins and other relatives and friends, including Mrs. Earl Toombs who has been quite ill but who is now much improved. Mr. Perkins who has been ill, remains about the same.

MRS. ANDRUS RETURNS FROM CHICAGO

Mrs. Leonard Andrus has returned from a visit in Chicago at the Century of Progress. Her niece, Mrs. Margaret Morris Morgan, who met her in the city, was unable to come to Dixon for a visit and returned to her home in Sewisky, N.
Y.

Luke's church will be held on Monday evening at St. Anne's hall on E.
Morgan street in North Dixon. Everything is in readiness for the showing of the lovely apparel for the fair sex, from the Kathryn Beard Shoppe, a number of manufacturers being ready to display all models.

Halloween Party Zion Household Clb.

The Zion Household Science Club
will hold a meeting on next Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. Laur-sen, with Mrs. E. Peterson assisting.
It will be a Halloween
costume party. The guests are requested to arrive in costume. Prizes will be given for the best costume
and for the funniest.

CAST FOR MILITARY PLAY TO MEET

THE TELEGRAPH'S PROGRAM

FOR A GREATER DIXON

Increase Dixon's Population 1,000 each year.
Connect Dixon with the Inland Waterway System.
Pass a City Zoning Law.
Enlarge Dixon's City Limits.
Abolish the Smoke Nuisance.
Repave and Widen Streets in Business District.
Build a Municipal Bathing Pool.
Advertise the Beautiful Rock River Valley.
Develop Dixon as an Industrial and Trading Center.

CRITICISM NOT WELL FOUNDED.

At the World's Fair in Chicago there is a free movie entitled "The Romance of Advertising." It's a good movie that brings out the whys and wherefores of the advertisement.

Incidental in this movie is shown the lack of standardization of products of a half century ago, the lack of guarantee that confronted the buyer at every turn. Since then,
the movie shows, products have been standardized—you know that you're getting quality merchandise at low prices.

While ruminating about this movie, the thought struck us that a little more emphasis could have been placed on how advertising has reduced the cost of products. For example, in Dixon a product is made which only a few years ago sold at prices twice as high as today. Portland cement, the material that enters into practically everything
we build, is sold at an astoundingly low price considering
all the elements that must be quarried, ground, burned
and pulverized to make it.

Criticism is directed to the cement manufacturers from time to time because cement prices are uniform, as quoted in any local market. Collusion has been suspected.

Only elementary economics are needed to find out why cement prices are normally identical at the same time and place. Portland cement of all brands must conform to a standard specification set by the U. S. Government and other large users—the country over cement is practically the same. In each area the cost of making cement varies only slightly. Naturally, when manufacturers are compelled to make an identical product the price tends to be uniform. There's no mystery about that.

Naturally when a buyer wants cement he can expect to get the lowest price from the nearest manufacturer, because of the lower transportation cost. But when the nearest maker sets a price, more distant manufacturers whose cement is identical must quote as low a price, despite extra freight costs, or stay out of the market.

Many of us have come to realize that we live in an age
made infinitely better by the standardization of our necessities on high quality levels. We have come also to expect uniformity of prices for these commodities. This, economists tell us, we cannot escape.

Criticism of the cement industry because of price uniformity is not well taken and in the interests of fair play
as well as industrial recovery it should cease.

FORCING MELODRAMA FROM PLAIN FACTS.

A good many people have toyed lately with the idea that the news-hungry citizen ought to be able to sit at home in his arm chair and have the news of the day waited to his receptive ears from the loud-speaker of his radio.
In theory, it's not a bad idea. In practice, it seems to be a completely non-explosive dud.

Not long ago a gang of convicts escaped from the Indiana state prison.

An Indiana radio station immediately set to work to broadcast the story of the man hunt.

The man hunt wasn't having a great deal of luck at the moment, and some radio official decided that the listeners-
in deserved more excitement than the plain facts were likely to provide. So that part of the public which tried to get its news out of the loud-speaker began to hear a wild and woolly tale of a running gun battle, with a juicy
slice of trumped-up melodrama substituted for facts.

As a result, the listeners-in were hoaxed and the enforcement officers who were trying to catch the convicts
found the work seriously hampered.

In a protest to the Federal Radio Commission, Capt
Matt Leach of the Indiana state police asserted:

"This broadcast seriously interfered with the work of the 65 state police under my command and a considerable number of other enforcement officers. . . . We wasted several hours of precious time. . . . Telephone wires of the state police at their barracks in Chesterton, Ind., were tied up for several hours by persons who apparently had heard the broadcast and were calling for information."

So the net result of all this was that the attempt to catch the convicts was hampered, some scores of citizens were frightened badly—and nobody knew just what was happening until the daily papers came around with the real facts in the case.

This is just the sort of thing that has happened over and over again in radio news broadcasts. The Los Angeles earthquake some time ago took on the proportions of one of the great disasters of all time—until the newspapers
came out with the truth.

"Wild-eyed announcers have told us of frenzied and sensational prize fights—which, next day, turned out to be affairs so spiritless and slow that the participants were almost tossed out of the ring for failing to try. The Indiana man hunt was a desperate gun battle—until the newspaper reporters turned in their reports."

So it goes. The loud-speaker may be a fine medium for hearing feminine-voiced tenors and third-rate vaudeville.
For accounts of the day's news, it seems to be a good deal
less than reliable.

THE GREATEST WORD

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

A little boy was doing his homework one evening long ago. Suddenly he asked his father which, to his mind, was the hardest word in the language. "The word No," his father replied. "Not in spelling, as I take it you mean; but it is the hardest word to use."

The boy was Edward Bok, who became one of the greatest editors of his age. As an editor he learned how often the little adverb is necessary, and how difficult it is, sometimes, to use it. Once he asked himself a like question, "What is the greatest word in the language?" and he wrote an article to answer it.

It is not Love, he argued. It is not Brotherhood. It is not Friendship. No, it is a word that embodies the spirit and meaning of all three of these words. The greatest word is—Service! Not self-service, for lip-service, that is empty of profit or meaning or joy.

The greatest thing on earth is to serve others, he said. Do you desire distinction? You will not get it by serving yourself. Do you covet honor? You will get it only as a servant of mankind. Jesus said, "He
that is greatest among you, let him
be the servant of all!"

The greatest thing on earth is to
serve others, he said. Do you desire
distinction? You will not get it by
serving yourself. Do you covet honor? You will get it only as a servant of mankind. Jesus said, "He
that is greatest among you, let him
be the servant of all!"

Idealistic? Not at all. On the contrary, it is realistic and works best when we keep our feet on the ground. He profits most who serves best, not only in dollars and cents,
but in satisfaction and joy. Because he gives value returned for what mankind gives him.

Perhaps so. But what about the man who serves mankind in the highest way, and gets only kicks
and cuffs for it—maybe a cross?
What inspires such far-flung, creative, heroic service? Surely we have not gone down to the roots of things until we find the secret of such service.

No; Love is still the greatest word in the language. Not love that is soft amiability, but love that is creative passion. Love in thought is truth; love in expression is beauty;
love in action is goodness, service,
by the greatest of all words are:
God is Love. They sum up the meaning, the mystery, and the music of life!

FATE

Fate—what is it?
A ghost—a phantom—a spirit
voice;
Who's elusive sweetness lures us to
lands unknown,
And inspires within us a desire
To new adventures seek.

Fate—what is it?
A dramatist—a clown;
Who's strange power brings tears
to our eyes,
And who's gestures fill us with laughter
So carefree and gay.

Fate—what is it?
A beggar—a pauper;
Who comes begging a morsel
Of sympathy, pity, and praise
From the bounteous table of life.

Fate—what is it?
A stranger whom none of us know;
Whose ways are vexing and vain;
Maybe a fairy, an elf,
Or some other mischievous sprite.

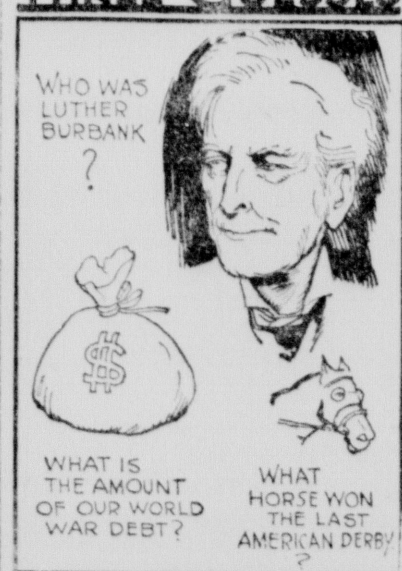

Fate—what is it?
A devil—a cruel demon—a spirit of evil;
Whose ways are puzzling and base,
And often lead us in paths
Of darkness, doubt, and despair.

Oh Fate—
A mysterious masquerader, thou
art;
One whom we both cherish and
fear,
Whose intricate ways haunt us by
day
And entangle our dreams by night.

OBITUARY

JEAN CAREE EMMERT

(Contributed.)

A pall of sorrow fell upon the life of the Nachusa community
when the word was passed from home to home that one of its most endeared young persons had been called to her heavenly home.
While all was still and calm, and
the earth, as it were, was sleeping,
the spirit of Jean Caree Emmert took its flight on Monday night at 9:50, after an illness of but few days duration.

The Lord's call to come up higher was answered without any hesitancy and without fear. Rather,
there was written on her face that smile which seemed to indicate that she was looking into her Savior's face, and was just waiting to enter into His arms to hear Him say, "Well done, enter thou
into the joy of thy Lord."

Jean Caree entered life March 3, 1917 at Nachusa, Ill., where her parents resided, and where she spent the years of her childhood
and the few years allotted to her youth, until the time of her departure. Some times it is difficult to note marked characteristics in childhood and youth, but not so with her. One of the most outstanding qualities was her desire and ability to make friends, not only among her immediate companions, but wherever she went,
young and old were greeted with the same fond greeting of kind word and winsome smile, and the one meeting her at once became her friend. She had the power and charm to attract people of all ages and to mingle happily and contentedly with them. No frown or look of disappointment was ever seen upon her face nor was an unkind word ever heard from her lips. This splendid characteristic enabled her to become a leader, and one whose companionship was always sought.

Then too, her entire school life
was outstanding, as indicated by the fact that she graduated from Dixon High School with the class of 1933 at the youthful age of sixteen. All during her grade and high school life she stood with the leaders or at the head of her class,
and a low or even a medium scholastic grade was unknown to her.
As a student she was of the highest type. She loved the finer things of life, in music, in literature, in art, and also in people. A musician of rare talent, she was adding that art to her other accomplishments
and charms.

We would also think of her as a child of God. When elected to offices of various kinds in the Sunday school or Luther League it was known in advance that the office
would be faithfully and capably filled. Hence even though young in years, she had already taken her place as a leader and worker in her local Sunday school and Luther League, and was actively engaged in serving her Master at the time of her death. It should be a source of inspiration to know that she was vitally interested in having her own Luther League attain an objective of helping others, of which objective she became familiar a few weeks ago while attending a State Luther League Convention, to which she had been sent as a delegate. Others must begin where she left off, and carry
to completion that which she longed to do.

She is survived by her grief
stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Emmert of Nachusa; her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emmert of Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. George Graehling, also of Dixon; several uncles and aunts;
by many other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held at the Nachusa Lutheran Church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by the pastor Rev. Palcholz, and assisted by Rev. Stahl. The lovely flower tributes, and the large number of people who attended the service bore testimony of the high esteem in which she was held.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled,
The boon His love had given,
And though the body slumbers
here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

THIRTEEN OF 21 ILLINOIS CITIES SHOW PROGRESS

Employment And Wage Rolls Both Better Than In August

Chicago, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Thirteen of 21 reporting Illinois cities and districts experienced both employment and payroll increases during September that contributed to a statewide gain of 2.8 per cent in workers and a rise of 0.6 per cent in wages over August, the state Department of Labor announced today.

The gains were reported as follows:

Chicago, 2 per cent in employment and 0.3 in payrolls.

Belleville, 1.1 and 11.9.

Bloomington, 11.5 and 14.3.

Decatur, 5.2 and 13.4.

East St. Louis, 5.6 and 8.7.

Elgin, 6 and 12.4.

Freeport, 2.9 and 2.2.

Kankakee-Bradley, 2.4 and 10.2.

Moline, 15.8 and 19.6.

Peoria, 14.7 and 13.9.

Quincy, 6.4 and 12.1.

Rock Island, 2.4 and 7.

Springfield, 7.7 and 7.1.

"All other cities," 3.2 and 1.3.

In Aurora, Sterling, Rock Falls and Joliet employment increased, while payrolls showed a loss, the Aurora figures showing a 3.6 per cent employment gain and a 2.6 per cent payroll loss; Sterling-Rock Falls, a 1.7 per cent gain and a 7.3 per cent loss; and Joliet a 4.8 per cent gain and a 6.1 per cent loss. The same was true in the Chicago metropolitan area where the number of workers increased 2.4 per cent and payrolls fell off 0.1 per cent.

The opposite held true in Danville where employment dropped 1.1 per cent and payrolls increased 5.2 per cent.

Cities experiencing losses in both employment and payrolls and the percentages were: Alton, 1.2 and 4.9; Granite City, 1.2 and 6.1; LaSalle-Peru-Oglesby, 0.4 and 3.4; Rockford, 2.5 and 5.1.

Weekly earnings for all reporting industries throughout the state for September averaged $20.38, a loss of 2.3 per cent from August.

Included in the report was an announcement of the state Division of Highways that 24,422 men were employed on road construction last month, against a total of 23,318 the month before. In the coal fields reporting mines, said employment of miners had increased 17.9 per cent in September.

MORE MR. BUNDY

The light of morning, after my unique experience with the desert lions, revealed a strange thing. Having dissected the chief Cymbal in the dim moonlight, I had failed to notice on the night before that my victim possessed two great brass cymbals, which were attached to powerful muscles. This discovery, hidden from others because of their fear of the beast, later required for me a niche in the explorers' hall of fame.

Leaving the lion country, our party set out for the interior and gorillas. We travelled by camel (which, luckily, we had brought with us on the ship) and we carried with us a goodly supply of food, but no water. So it was little wonder that on the third day my men were all but overcome.

I scanned the expanse of rolling sand until at last my keen eyes came upon a verdant oasis. It is futile to explain that when I announced my findings my good men fairly leaped to the spot.

All but my first mate, loyal soul that he was. He stayed by my side and attempted to cheer me.

"How much would you take for this desert?" he asked.

"Anyone who wants it can have this whole expanse for ten cents," I replied.

"That's too expensive," he punned. And I felled him with my handy crowbar.

Arriving at the oasis, the mate and I were struck with great surprise by the sight which met our eyes. My sailors were no longer men, but small boys, dancing and frolicking about with glee.

Were it not for their clothing (which now dragged on the ground tripping the youngsters occasionally) I would not have recognized them. Indeed, the Fountain of Youth had been found.

With heavy hearts, my mate and I gathered together our flock and pushed on to the land of gorillas.

When, at last, we reached a spot ideally suited for camping, we halted. My first duty being to find a nurse for the kiddies, I chose a motherly gorilla who relieved me of my charges.

Years slipped by; years of success for me, for I returned to America a famous man. I had led many expeditions of exploration since my ill-fated voyage to Iceland, and had made many remarkable discoveries. But the most incredible was to come when I returned one day to the gorilla country.

It was there I found a colony of veritable Tarzans. And were it not for the tattoo marks, I would not have known the ape-men to be my crew of long ago.

350 Woodpecker Types

The woodpecker is not a single type of bird, but one of a family which numbers some 350 branches. About half the species are found in the New World and about 25 species in the United States. The woodpecker is probably the greatest friend of the farmer and orchardist among the birds, for it is the most effective of all birds in keeping down insect attacks on trees, both of the forest and the orchard.

The Gate of Tears

The phrase is a translation of the Arabic Bab-el-Mandeb, which is the name of the strait between Africa and Arabia connecting the Red sea and the Indian ocean. It is so named because of the large number of shipwrecks which have occurred in the difficult passage. Also there is a legend that thousands perished in an earthquake which centuries ago opened the strait and let the seas through.

THREE TEAMS IN CLASSIC LEAGUE IN TIE FOR LEAD

Scotty's Hop Inn, Budweisers, Walnut Grovers Tied

Classic league bowlers are slowly on the upgrade, in the way of defeating between high and low scores, and as a result are beginning to assemble some very presentable team and individual records. The very latest record of note is the new team record count produced by the Budweisers in Wednesday night's league session, this team collecting games of 926, 1038, 968, and totaling 2932 for a new season record. Carl Buchner of the Budweiser team proved himself an able pinster by bowling a new individual single game of 239, his second game. The Budweiser team, captained by Forest Suter also holds high team single game of 1069. Ed Detweiler of the Walnut Grove Products team has the honor of holding down the highest three game count for an individual with a series of 634.

Cleary Takes Lead
New faces appeared this week on the high average slate. Frank Cleary now is claimant of first place with an average of 196 for six games.

Edward Worley is in second place with 190.2 for nine games. Ed Detweiler holds third with 186.2 for nine games. C. V. Chapman crashed the big "five" this week, by shooting in a series of 610 and is now in fourth place with 185.6.

Forest Suter rolled 568 this week to enable him to occupy fifth position in individual averages. Suter now averaging 184.8 for the nine games rolled thus far.

Scotty's Hop Inn, the Budweisers, and the Walnut Grove Products teams are now fighting it out for first place, each having won 6 and lost 3, with a winning percentage of 66 2/3.

The United Cigar Store team is sole heir to second place in team standing with 5 wins and 4 defeats.

The Beier's Loafers suffered a setback this week, and as a result are in a tie with the Illinois Utilities company for third place.

The Quality Cleaners lost three this week, and are in fourth place with 3 wins and 6 defeats.

Phillips 66 still hold down the cellar position with 2 wins and a losing column of 7.

Next Week's Schedule
Wednesday, Oct. 25—7:00 P. M. United Cigar Store vs Beier's Loafers. Budweisers vs Phillips 66.

Wednesday at 9:00 P. M. Walnut Grove Products vs Scotty's Hop Inn. Quality Cleaners vs Illinois Northern Utilities.

Classic League Summary
Walnut Grove vs Quality Cleaners: The Walnut Grove Product led by Chester V. Chapman with a series of 610 administered a 15-0 defeat to the Quality Cleaners on Wednesday night when they mustered a series of 2732, as against the Cleaners three game series of 2613.

Chapman rolled the highest single game of 223 his second game, and continued to mix enough aples his last game to finish the grid with a series of 610.

Scotty vs I. N. U. Co.: A double win was awarded the Scotty's Hop Inn team in Wednesday night's match with the Illinois Northern Utilities squad. Dale Senneff affording the fire works for the I. N. U. Co. by mixing games of 214, 60, 192 for high series count of 566 and his single of 214, taking honors in this event also.

Beier's vs Budweisers: The Budweiser team proved themselves Quality A No. 1 by taking the Beier team for a straight set of three games.

Carl Buchner showed real merit as a bowler by contributing games of 198, 239, 194 for high series of 631. Buchner's single effort of 239 set a new individual record for the Classic League, as well as complete honors for this match. The Budweiser's total of 2932 is also a new Classic record.

Phillips 66 vs United Cigar
United Cigar created quite a smoke Wednesday when they fanned the Phillips 66 for a 2-1 count. Royal Fitzsimmons outpointed his member p-ylers and opponents by totaling 508 for high three game series. Moersbacher of the Cigar team let loose with a 221 count his last game to help the Cigars bowl the big total of 1032.

It was a gay, little place. Joan had never imagined anything quite like Kate Jones' apartment. There were bright draperies at the window. Bright cushions. Modernistic and flaming sketches on the wall, and black furniture. Near a window a brilliant parrot in a bright green cage was talking shrilly. And, completing the exotic picture, Kate and Sally in their decorative lounging costumes.

"Take a look at this," screamed the parrot as Joan stood hesitantly in the doorway.

Kate Jones uncurling her long length from a sofa said cordially, "Come in and don't let that crazy bird embarrass you. She has a sharp tongue and a dull mind. It didn't take you long to get here."

"Shut up," shrieked the parrot. "I don't know why I stand here," said Kate, smiling. "She's just one of many bad habits. Sally, she turned to the other girl, 'You remember Joan, don't you? I'm going to teach her how to walk right up to Old Man Business with a 'gimme' look in her eye. Good looks and nerve. You can't miss if you've got 'em!'"

Presently they were sitting at a table on which was spread an appetizing meal. The linen was fresh and the china was dainty.

Joan was thinking that this vast city where young girls fought every inch of the way for a living seemed less real, Memphis seemed less real now, and very far away. Perhaps she could never get the slant on life these girls had, but already she could see staunch qualities behind their light and brittle conversation. It had been thoughtful of Kate to ask her to come to dinner, generous to take in a stranger.

"I've an inspiration!" said Kate after the meal was concluded.

"But first you'll have to show me, I'm not from Missouri, but a little town just over the border in Illinois gave me the same idea. Can you really sing or were you just paying compliments to yourself?"

Joan smiled. "I sing some but I don't expect an audition at the Metropolitan."

"Modest, huh? Well—let's hear you!"

Joan looked from Kate to Sally.

Forgotten Sweetheart

by MARY RAYMOND © 1933 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOB WESTON, son of a New York millionaire, has come to Memphis in connection with a textile plant owned by his father. He fell in love with JOAN WARRING, pretty Memphis girl. The romance progressed until one day Joan and Bob were invited to a house party. Through the scheming of BARBARA COURTNEY, who is trying to win Bob, Joan and Bob became estranged.

Joan returns to Memphis with JIM WARFIELD, another guest at the party. During the next few weeks Bob turns to Barbara'sattery for consolation. He sees Joan at a dance and plans to see her next day and try to clear up the misunderstanding between them.

That same night Joan's sister, PAT, is in an automobile accident and JERRY FORRESTER, her escort, is killed. Bob's father reads about the accident in a newspaper and asks Bob not to see Joan again.

Pat, heartily, runs away to New York. Joan follows on the next train after writing the Travelers' Aid to detain her sister. Pat eludes the Travelers' Aid representative. With funds low, Joan begins search for her sister. She meets KATE JONES, a model, who offers to help her.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

Everyone loves a Halloween party—and the thing to do is to get in the "spirit" of the occasion.

Spooky parties are the most fun. You can darken the house, place a ghost here and there and arrange to have strange colored beams of light coming out of the most unexpected places.

Try and think of some kind of a really new game for your party. One called "Detective" is appropriate for Halloween. The person who is "it" thinks of a plot.

He gives meager details, such as where the body was found, how many people were in the house, what relation one or two of them bore to the murdered person, and maybe one or two sinister details about the body. He must have a clear plot in his own mind and be sure himself that it can be afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Burhenn to make plans. It is a big job as they feed between five and six hundred people. The committee consists of Mrs. Mary Burhenn, chairman; Mrs. J. R. Dysart, Mrs. H. A. Dierdorff, Mrs. Rebecca Colwell, Mrs. Frank Banker, Mrs. Joel Senger, Miss Lucy Krehl, Mrs. William Black, Mrs. Fred Krehl and Mrs. Lena Smith.

Our good friend, Mrs. Susan Barkman celebrated her 90th birthday anniversary Tuesday at her home here. Without a doubt, Mrs. Barkman is now the oldest resident of our town. Generally speaking her health is good for one of her age. Her friends are wish-worked out by the simple process of answering yes and no to questions asked by the rest of the members of the party.

Planning refreshments

Your refreshments should be carefully planned. Don't forget that cider, doughnuts and apples are synonymous with Halloween. And no matter how many times you've seen them served, it is a good idea to have them again anyway.

Most parties work themselves out all right. If your house is decorated in true Halloween style your refreshments amusing and appetizing and your guests congenial, you won't have to worry about a thing. It's well to have one good game to play early in the evening just in case conversation lags.

A buffet supper party is one very nice way of entertaining Halloween guests. Try to think of some pretty way to trim the long table at which the food is placed. Have one decorative centerpiece with a few black cats and Jack-o'-Lanterns scattered here and there

ing her health and more birthday anniversaries.

The Sunday school class taught by Miss Clara Lahman enjoyed a scramble supper at her home on Thursday evening.

The Kilo Club held their first meeting of the season Tuesday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Cover. The tables were beautifully decorated with the season of Halloween, the colors of white and gold predominating, they being the club colors.

In a guessing contest Mrs. Blekking won first prize and in another game Mrs. Medine Hussey won first prize. The committee having the luncheon in charge was Mrs. John Cover, chairman; Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Mrs. Harry Stultz, Mrs. LaForrest, Meredith, Miss Carrie Anderson. Fifteen members were present. Mrs. Blekking was an invited guest.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon October 24. Hostess: Mrs. Leland Hanson. Roll call, short animal story. Study, "Wild Life in Civilization." Leader, Mrs. Ada Peterman.

Daily Health Talk

FOOD FALLACIES

Probably in no sphere are there as many false ideas passing for good as in the field of dietetics.

For example, there are some who believe that the combination of starches or sugars with acid fruits or with meat or eggs generates alcohol in the stomach, producing a kind of jar.

This belief is erroneous. One can produce alcohol outside the body by the fermentation of starches or sugars, but no such process takes place in the gastro-intestinal tract.

Some believe that soups which contain thickening or meat stock are injurious.

However, except for the matter of taste, soup is soup, no matter by what name it is called or what it contains, though there may be substantial differences in digestibility and nutritious values.

Much pseudo-scientific nonsense has been written about the harm which results from combining carbohydrates with protein.

All such stuff is essentially erroneous, for in all of our natural foods we find practically everywhere the triple combination of carbohydrates, proteins, and fats in one and the same article. Our daily bread, the very staff of life, and our daily potatoes, are each a protein-starch combination.

Much has been written about acid foods and alkali foods to give the general impression that alkali foods are the preferable.

The fact is that the human body has as much need for acids as for alkalies, and just as one may suffer from acidosis, too, he may suffer from alkalosis. Furthermore, foods that are aid in reaction outside the body, may produce an alkaline effect when utilized.

Condiments such as pepper, salt, mustard and various sauces have been picked out by some for special abuse. Certainly, condiments are to be used sparingly, but to charge to these condiments a host of disastrous diseases, running all the way from cancer to baldness, is to abuse common sense.
